This and That

Good Morning,

Two weeks left, but who's counting! Our final Character Trait, GRIT is really something we are putting into action right now. Our saying is, "The strength not to give up even when it's tough." We are excited to end our great year on a positive note!

This last week, a few parents have shared with me their concerns about how much sugar our kids are consuming. The "Money Management Market" on Fridays was supposed to be the only day that kids sold treats. We are definitely seeing that this is not the case. We will be restricting the market these last couple of weeks to not include sweet treats, and this summer the teachers and I will reevaluate how we can better manage this aspect of Money Management.. It would also help us if you can talk to your child about not selling things from their lunch or giving their friends sweets. Thank you for your help with this issue, I think if everyone works together we can solve this pretty easily.

Have a great week!

Blessings,
Mrs. Bartsch
